Hey, I'm talking to you

by MiaQc

Summary

Levi from Fear & Hunger 2: Termina has an unwanted soul inside his body, the one of a certain Levi Ackerman.

- A translation of Hé, je te parle by MiaQc

Note: The story was kind-of easier to write in French since Levi Ackerman's name is spelled "Livaï." Now to differentiate between the two I use Ackerman for AOT's Levi.

<Hey, kid.>

Levi remains silent.

<I'm talking to you.>

His stomach is growling.

<Listen, I'm stuck here with you so...>

He's so hungry.

<I'm Levi Ackerman, but you probably already know that.>

Levi. The same first name.

<You're not going to give up, are you?>

Levi doesn't respond to Ackerman.

<This fucking festival. I refuse to sit idly by and let you starve. Come on, get up, kid.>

Levi remains seated on the floor. He does not want to get up. To fight. To survive. Hunger gnaws at him.

<Get up or I'll make you get off your ass!>

Since Levi refuses to listen, Ackerman intervenes. The young ex-soldier then feels his body move on its own. Like a possessed being, he stands up. He takes a few steps and limps, as if one of his legs were paralyzed. Levi (?) looks at his right hand. His index and middle fingers refuse to move, as if they had been cut off. Suddenly, his right eye clouds over and he goes blind.

"Great. My injuries are affecting your body, Levi." Ackerman's voice came out of his mouth. "Strangely, your other leg still works."

Levi says nothing. He doesn't intervene with the soul that possesses his flesh.

“Fuck, kid, you have a death wish or what?”

No response.

“Come on, I'll find you something to eat and if any of those fucking monsters get in my way...”

Suddenly omni-directional mobility gear appears at Levi's waist. It is equipped with blades and gas.

“I'm going to cut them to pieces!” exclaims Ackerman, always ready for battle.

Ackerman pulls Levi out of his location. The young ex-soldier finally decides to ask him a question.

“What is that thing?” he asks, pointing to the omni-directional mobility gear.

Ackerman makes him smile by controlling his mouth.

“That, kid, is an ODM and I'm going to show you how it works.”

And so a strange symbiosis begins between the two Levis.
